Fair prexy up in the air

PlanCom OKs cluster principle

Carmel Views subdivision, a "Cluster type" development proposed for 210 acres near the mouth of the Valley in the Hatton Canyon area, was approved by the County Planning Commission last week in principle, but developer Russell Galloway was directed to submit a revised map.

Galloway's request for 181 lots in parcels of less than one acre was originally denied by the Plancom when the Board of Supervisors referred it back to them for study in relation to the slope density formula.

PlanCom continued the hearing until September 29 with the suggestion the number of lots be reduced, complying with suggestions of the Aguajito Property Owners Association.

However, by approving the cluster principle, the commission appears to have bypassed waiting for the final outcome of the slope density study.

Writer to talk to Chapel Guild

Mrs. Beulah Powers, Carmel Valley authoress, will be featured speaker at a dessert meeting of the CV Community Chapel Guild Wednesday, September 1 at 12:45.

CVPOA meeting slated Thursday

CVPOA will hold its quarterly meeting on Thursday, September 9, in the Community Center, at 8 p.m.

10th annual Trail and Saddle Club Horseshow this weekend

The Tenth Annual Horseshow of the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club will open on Saturday, Setember 4, with jackpot roping at 1 p.m. At 6:30 there will be a steak barbecue followed by outdoor dancing. Barbecue tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children, but reservations must be made in advance by calling Orley White (659-2313), Nancy Porter (659-2547), Martha Ziegler (659-2360), or Donna Carter (659-2354).

On Sunday, September 5, the day will start with a ranch breakfast from 7 a.m. on. Judged events will begin at 9 a.m. and proceed in both arenas until the lunch break.

At 12:30, Carmel Valley's best known horseman and resident, Joe Hitchcock, will be the marshall leading the grand entry parade. Ralph Carter and George Scovel will then continue the judging throughout the afternoon. An added attraction this year will be the halter and pleasure classes for registered Appaloosas, half arab, quarter horse and purebred arab.

The day will close with gymkhana events such as pole bending, barrel racing, key hole race, etc.

Gate admission for the Sunday show is $1 for adults, 18 and over, 50¢ for age 9-17, and no charge for 8 and under. Food and soft drinks will be available all day on Sunday.

Disposal plant plan causes concern

Monday night's "road meeting" at Rancho del Monte Country Club turned into a discussion of sewage disposal problems when Reuben Tice revealed that he had been asked to bid on a generator for a "sewage disposal plant" at the planned Rancho Fiesta retirement community. Mr. Tice stated that a plumbing firm salesman had told him that bids were being taken for the plant to be located on the south side of the road along the Carmel River and it would appear that the affluent would drain into the river.

The meeting was lightly attended but those who were present were vehement in their desire to preserve "what river there is" from contamination.

Supervisor Tom Hudson who attended to answer questions on the Valley's secondary roads, suggested a meeting be planned for discussion of the sanitation problems of the Valley with experts present to inform the residents of the sewage disposal master plan which is in existance.

The matter will be the topic at the next Valley Advisory Council meeting (Hudson Huddle) to be held September 16 at noon at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. The luncheon meeting is open to all who are interested.

Apprehension was expressed by Beverly Stover who commented that the bacterial count is already rising in local wells in the Schulte Road area.

Don Koonts who lives just west of the Rancho Fiesta site on the river requested an investigation into the sewage plant with facts and figures on how many gallons of affluent will be dumped.

Pretty girls, pretty clothes coming to Youth Center Fashions

MODELS for the Carmel Youth Center fashion show Sept. 8 appear to enjoy the clothes they will wear. Public ownership would give water cheaper, speaker tells Kiwanis, urging Yes on bonds

"Don't let your heart overrule your pocketbook," Attorney Myron Haas of the Monterey Peninsula Municipal Water Dist. told Carmel Valley Kiwanians last week, urging a "yes" vote for the district's coming bond election.

"A public agency can serve water cheaper than a private company," he declared. "It can offer excellent service at the cheapest rates."

As proof, he pointed out that 80 per cent of all water systems in California are publicly-owned.

The $17 1/2 million in bonds, to be voted on Sept. 2, would be revenue bonds, which would be paid off entirely from income from the system, and not by property taxes, he said.

However, if the bond issue fails, the expenses incurred for various studies would have to be paid off by tax, the attorney said.

Advantages of public water systems include savings from not having to pay taxes and being able to borrow money at a cheaper rate, less than 4%, compared to at least 6% for a public system, Haas added.

DEDICATED DIRECTORS

He praised the district's board of directors as being dedicated, civic-minded citizens, whose sole aim is to work for the best possible service at the cheapest rates. "The charge that the board is politically oriented is pure hogwash." he said.

Present at the meeting was Barnard Siegel, president of Carmel Savings and Loan Association, who is a water district board member, as is Carmel Valley realtor Irene Baldwin. Other members include Edwin Coffin, president; Ernest Barbour, vice president, and Jim Hendricks.

The Water Dist. was formed by almost a 2 to 1 vote in 1958, following three rate increases by California Water and Telephone Co., which owns the local water system. Haas also pointed out that the Monterey area is one of the few spots in the state which has different pumping-level rates, or higher rates for higher elevations.

91-DAY HEARING

California Water and Telephone Co. refused to negotiate with the Water District to establish a value for the system, so the California State Public Utilities Commission was asked by the District to set the value. This took 91 days of testimony, which added up to more than 9,000 pages of transcript.

The private utility company began by claiming a value of $24 million for the system, which the public Water District said was worth $10.8 million. The State Public Utilities Commission finally set a value of $12,720,000.

The private water company paid $375,400 in state and federal taxes and $164,000 in local property taxes in 1964, according to Haas.

The Water District's financial consultants say that it would be in a position to reduce water rates $90,000 worth immediately and probably considerably more after the first six months of initial public management.

RETAIN PERSONNEL

The Water District has announced it would retain all present personnel and would save money in the management charges which have been borne for its Los Angeles headquarters, Haas said.

In response to questions, the attorney said that the Del Monte Water Co., serving a small portion of Carmel Valley, is not slated for immediate acquisition if the bond issue passes, but that its owner Clayton Neil, has talked with the District about later negotiations for purchase. A single, district-wide water-rate structure would probably be adopted, Haas said.

The District would have to honor all present leases and contracts of the private water company, he said. These include a lease of San Clemente reservoir for fishing to a group of San Francisco men, and a 15-year agreement with Del Monte Properties for preferential treatment. Haas said that fear of losing this preferential treatment probably explains opposition of Del Monte Properties to the coming bond issue.

NEW DAM IN 1980

Runoff of the Carmel River, which is the major source of water for the system, will be sufficient for ultimate development of the area, he added.

Growth plans call for construction of another dam on the river about 1980, he said.

Whoever builds this dam--private or public utility--will have to borrow money to do so at that time, the attorney explained. The fact that a public utility can borrow money cheaper than a private company would be reflected in water rates, he said. And, he added, a public water district might get federal assistance for another dam, as Santa Barbara recently did, because the reservoir was multi-purpose for recreation, flood control and water use.

The present private company allows, besides for taxes, $775,000 for profit and depreciation. If the bond issue passes, about $400,000 would be left over for the benefit of the public, after operating expenses, and payments on interest and principal on the bonds.

SALLY MC KENZIE of Carmel Valley will show her registered Appaloosa, Hi-vu-Domino, at halter as well as riding in the pleasure class for registered Appaloosas at the 10th Annual Horseshow of the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club. The show will be held Saturday and Sunday, September 4 and 5 at the club grounds on Garzas Road. (Jim Ziegler Photo)

275 students expected to descend on 'Middle School' next Tuesday Sept. 7th

Carmel Middle School, consisting of grades five through eight will open its doors to approximately 675 students on Sept. 7, including 7th and 8th graders from Tularcitos and all students above 4th grade from Carmelo.

Complete changeover of students above 4th grade from Tularcitos will be made next year.

Carmel Middle School is the former Carmel Junior High (7-8 and 9th grades) with the addition of eight new classrooms.

Principal Orville C. Rogers, former principal of Sunset School, Carmel, explains the middle school as an "in-between" or intermediate school serving as a transitional phase between the neighborhood primary (kindergarten to 4th grade) school and the four year high school.

"We hope the school will encourage innovations such as team teaching, programmed learning, ungradedness and grouping plus creativity on the part of teacher and administrators," Mr. Rogers said.

Factors which prompted the Board of Education to set up a middle school have been set forth as follows:

Ninth graders would get a better academic program in a four-year high school rather than as part of a 3-year junior high. This is particularly true where 80% of the students are college-bound and grades are a crucial factor beginning in the 9th grade.

b. Fifth and sixth graders will have the benefit of specialists in various subjects.

c. Fifth and sixth graders have not always been sufficiently challenged in the traditional primary school.

In summing up the advantages of the new Middle School, Mr. Rogers pointed out that the schedule will provide an academic specialist in each discipline for every student; a schedule that will permit each student to work at the level of his ability.

He emphasized that this kind of program depends not only on its acceptance by children and parents, but in the ability of and inclination of teachers to work as a team and that its maximum value depends on securing and keeping the best teachers possible.

A handbook for parents is being mailed out this week which includes a letter urging parents to visit the school and get to know their childrens' teachers and counselor.

Any student not receiving his schedule and students new to the area should report directly to the cafeteria on opening day.

Mr. Rogers' assistant principal is H. F. Chapple, a teacher last year at Loyola School in Los Altos and before that an administrator at Bucheye, near Phoenix, Arizona.

DICK WARMINGTON presents to Petra Dahle the "Dick Warmington Perpetual Trophy" for the greatest improvement in horsemanship, at the final Play Day at the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club grounds last week Sunday.

Cypress Swim Club does well

DANVILLE -- Cypress Swim Club of Carmel won three third place medals and a 6th place medal at Sunday's 1965 Pacific AAU Age Group Stunt meet. More than 100 swimmers from 10 clubs were entered Kathy Neill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Neill of Toyon Way placed third in the 10 and under category and Marnie Mark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mark of Hitchcock Canyon, placed third in the 11-12 year 14 year division, while her sister, Jan, trailing by only a half a point, placed sixth in the same category.

Sharon Roehl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Roehl of La Mesa Village, placed third in the 13-

In overall team points the club was in fifth place.

Fire Dept. to expand into ball field

Next summer's season will be the last year that the Carmel Valley Little League will be able to use the Fire Department field, so by 1967 a new location will have to be found. The announcement was made at the last Little League meeting of the year. The teams have had the use of the field for the past eight years, but the Fire Department must now plan for expansion, according to Fire Chief Chip Collins.

Officers for the coming year elected at last week's Little League meeting. The new president will be George Groves; vice president, Bill Nelson; secretary-treasurer, Ken Van Hagen; and player-agent, Rex Pryer. Coaches will be Roger Sherman, Bill Conlan, Sal O'Campo and John Klein.

Little League officers expressed appreciation to all who helped this past year from both themselves and the boys. Any help or suggestions that can be offered to solve the problem of a playing field will also be welcomed by the group.

UNDER THE OAKS AND AMONG THE CACTI

By MILDRED HATTAN

Mr. and Mrs. David Mathews and daughter Jennifer welcomed a new arrival at their home 98 Ford Road. Miss Sandra Noel Mathews arrived at 2:30 P.M. August 21 at the Community Hospital. Sheweighed 8 1/2 pounds. The Mathews family is a special one to the neighborhood small fry who staged a rousing welcome home from the hospital. Ten children made a thirty foot sign which read, "Welcome home Lynn and Sandra" and festooned the Mathew's dogs and horses with balloons and crepe paper for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adams of Salinas are the baby's maternal grandparents. Her paternal grandparents live in Texas.

BRIDGE CLUB NEWS

Bridge enthusiasts are enjoying the weekly meetings of the summer-formed "Los Laureles Bridge Club" which meets each Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Los Laureles Lodge. Winners of the last tournament were Mrs. Martha Vail and Mrs. Virginia Palmer, First; Mrs. A.S. Bradley and Mrs. George Corrigan, second; Mrs. B.F. Huff and Mr. Al Friedenthal, third.

IJAMS AT NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ijams Jr. and their two daughters have moved from Panetta Road to Middle Canyon Road. Their home is the former residence of Lt. and Mrs. I.R. Crichton. The Crichtons, a well known Navy family who participated in many Valley activities have been transferred to a station in San Diego.

ST. DUNSTAN'S

The monthly Benefit Bridge and Canasta sponsored by St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church was held last Wednesday at the Lupin Lane home of Mrs. Richard McKenzie. Assisting Mrs. McKenzie with the coffee and dessert were Mrs. Ned Sinclair and Mrs. Robert Staples. The two high prizes for bridge were awarded to Mrs. D.L. Staniford of Carmel and Mrs. Basil Frobisher of Carmel Valley. Mrs. Phillip Walker won the award for Canasta. The next party, to be given September 22, will be held at the home of Mrs. Ed Lesile on Los Arboles. Her co-hostesses will be Mrs. Wanda Leslie and Mrs. Rudolph Ploense. Proceeds of the monthly parties are donated to the fund to purchase pews for the church. Persons wishing to make table reservations for September are asked to phone Mrs. Gordon Brown (659-4079).

NEW VALLEY RESIDENT

A warm Valley welcome to Miss Yuvawn St. Claire who recently purchased the Lower Circle residence of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Audy. Miss St. Claire, who has taught in the Monterey City School District for 5 years, is currently teaching fourth grade at Seaside Elementary School. The Audys, who now make their home in San Francisco, are leaving shortly for a tour of Europe.

HARRIS FAMILY AT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Harris of Berwick Drive are home from their vacation. Marlene and Bob with the Harris youngsters, Brian, Kim, Laura and Mary, fished and camped at Fallen Leaf near Tahoe before stopping in Sacramento for a week with Bob's parents.

OREGONIANS VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richerts entertained houseguests from Portland, Oregon, recently when Pat's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Agee and family, Dan, Bill and Jane arrived for a visit.

NEW GUEST AT CV INN

A story circulating among local dog owners concerns the audacity of a Valley basset hound. Her family had chosen one canine traveling companion and left on a two week camping trip leaving the remaining menagerie in the hands of a capable house, horse, dog, cat, turtle and quail sitter. The basset (a profound thinker) considered her plight for a few days and moved to the Carmel Valley Inn. Here she was traced by her distraught owners who found that Grahame Harrison and her entire Inn staff had renamed the dog, "Mrs. Browning," bathed her, and given her so much tender loving care that she was reluctant to return home. This, according to Mrs. Harrison, is the seventh stray to be given shelter since they took over the Inn and she suggests pet owners check their "lost and found department" since their hospitality seems to attract animals as well as tourists.

Swim club tryouts to be held at CV pool

The Cypress Swim Club will hold auditions for potential new members of its synchronized swimming team at the Carmel Valley Community Pool, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m., next Wednesday and Thursday, September 8 and 9.

Parents and members of the Cypress Swim Club, which is not quite one year old, have expressed amazement at the rapid development of the swimmers. In the short time since its formation the club has won several medals and ribbons in AAU competition.

The club is coached and supervised by Donn Squire men's national AAU synchronized swimming solo champion, and managed by Del Neel. Both men volunteer their time, and receive no compensation for their services.

Membership is open to any peninsula girl between the ages of nine to fifteen who has maintained a "B" scholastic average and who is a better than average swimmer.

Interested applicants should arrive at the pool on either of the two evenings above, and, because of lack of dressing room facilities, should be wearing a bathing suit and cap.

Parents of applicants who are accepted for the club will be asked to attend an orientation meeting to discuss sustaining membership requirements and the payment dues which are tax deductible and which cover the costs of costuming and competition in AAU meets.

MPC needs two evening teachers

Monterey Peninsula College needs two evening instructors for the fall semester, one to teach a class in Spanish, the other in philosophy, Dr. Keith Merrill, MPC evening division dean, announced today.

Applicants must possess either a valid junior college credential or a master's degree or higher in the subject field, Dr. Merrill said.

He urged interested persons to contact him at the college as soon as possible, since the fall semester opens September 13.

'Rape of Lucretia'

White Oaks plans opera, chamber music

Opening at White Oaks Theatre on Thursday, September 9, and playing for four nights only is Benjamin Britten's exciting opera in English, "The Rape of Lucretia." On Sunday afternoon only, there is a special concert of chamber music featuring works by Schubert, Prokofieff, and Hindemith.

Chris Nance, the Theatre's Musical Director and Assistant Director of Opera at Louisiana State University, has assembled the young virtuosos to comprise the cast and orchestra.

Emily Mawhead, who will sing the role of the Female Chorus, has been a recipient of numerous awards in her native Texas and in California, where she has just received her Master in Music degree from the University of Southern California School of Music. She has appeared with the Dallas Symphony and sung in such operas as Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," Menotti's "The Telephone," Wagner's "Das Rheingold."

Travis Franklin, Junius in "Rape of Lucretia," was winner of the Arkansas State Young Artists award sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs. He has appeared frequently as soloist in such works as Handel's "Samson," J.S. Bach's "St. Matthew Passion," Handel's "Messiah."

Since entering the University of Southern California School of Music, Dennis Dalsimer, who portrays Collatinus in "Rape of Lucretia," has had the distinction of particupating in nine complete operas.

Alva Eugene Henderson, the Male Chorus in "Rape of Lucretia," is currently concentrating on composition while continuing his vocal studies with Margaret Sheldon. He has appeared in many major roles with San Francisco State College's Opera Workshop including "Don Quixote," "Gianni Schicchi," "Eneas," and "Rigoletto."

Also in the cast are Tracy Carr and Shelia Jo White, both members of the Theatre's resident companies this season, and familiar to White Oaks audiences for their work in "oklahoma!" and "Brigadoon." Besides participating in the A Capella Choir and the University Chorus at Louisiana State University, Shelia Jo White has sung the role of Barbarina in "The Marriage of Figaro," Emilia in the world premiere of "Serenade at Noon" by Peter Paul Fuchs, Lady Rowena in "Once Upon A Mattress" and Maria in "West Side Story." Tracy Carr is making her debut as a soloist in a full-length opera, but prior to coming to California, Miss Carr appeared as a chorus member in "Othello" with James Mc Cracken and William Dooley at the Houston Grand Opera.

Reservations for the opera and the special concert of chamber music on Sunday, September 12, can be made by calling the Theatre, 659-2248.

STORAGE IS IMPORTANT to squirrels, who must have a good supply of food on hand when winter comes...and to the people of this area, who must have an adequate supply of water the year round.

Our San Clemente and Los Padres Dams on the Carmel River furnish facilities to store enough of the water which Nature provides during the rainy season to care for the needs of the Peninsula for more than twelve months.

These dams represent a large investment of capital funds but their value to the health and economic welfare of this region cannot be measured in terms of dollars.

School insurance a bargain for parents

The Carmel Unified School District will again make insurance coverage available for individual purchase under the California Interscholastic Federation Protection Fund (C.I.F.P.F.). Two types of coverage are available; type 1 for school connected general accidents, and type 2, insurance protection for athletes.

School connected accidents are those which occur when students are required to be in buildings or on grounds by reason of attendence at regular school sessions in the district. This includes time transportation provided by the school district, including athletic team trips and when students are participating in school sponsored and supervised activities on the school grounds or elsewhere.

The insurance which costs $2.75 yearly per student, provides benefits on a non-scheduled and non-deductible basis, up to $1,500 total medical expense per pupil per year, including maximum dental benefits of $200. The combination of the basic benefits and the "catastrophic injury" insurance which is effect automatically can provide up to $3,000 in medical and $3,000 in hospital benefits.

The athletic insurance offered by C.I.F.P.F. is different in that is is scheduled. This means that the plan does not guarantee full payment of the submitted claims. It provides basic scheduled medical, hospital and dental benefits up to the maximum of $500 medical, $500 hospital and $200 dental, or a total maximum of $1,000.

The new California State Law requires that all students participating in the high school athletic program, including band members, team managers, yell and song leaders, must carry C.I.F.P.F. insurance or an equivalent policy with a private company with benefits to $1,500.

The athletic insurance is divided into two types; football, which carries a $12 fee, and "all other sports," which carries a fee of $3.40.

If medical bills which result as a result of an athletic injury are more than the Industrial Accident fee schedule the parents are liable for the difference.

Blanks will be sent home with students from the schools in the Carmel Unified School District regarding the insurance programs.

Navy wives hear fashion tips

Ellen Waters was the guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Enlisted Men's Wives Club of the Naval Auxiliary Landing Field. Held at the Officers Club, Ellen's topic was "Fashion and Good Grooming" with Ruth Stowers modeling a basic black dress to show a myriad of accessory changes.

CHS class of '50 athletes swap stories of former school days

ALL SEVEN, four year letter men were on hand to reminisce at the recent reunion of the class of 1950 from Carmel High School. Both football and basketball were represented as the former classmates enjoyed a dinner-dance held at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. (left to right) Peter Berg, Lee Laugenour, Jim Hare, Steve Whitaker, Gene Vandervort, Dick Weer, and Tom Handley. Pauline Weer casts an approving eye at right.

Orientation meeting scheduled for all Carmel High students Sept.2

An orientation meeting for all students new to Carmel High School, including those arriving from Carmel Junior High School, will be held tomorrow, September 2, in the gymnasium from 1p.m. to 3 p.m.

Tests will be given to all new students except those coming from the Junior High from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. The tests are mandatory and students are urged to take them at this time rather than wait until classes start and necessitate losing class time.

The first day of high school will begin with an assembly at 8 a.m. on the football field at which time individual schedules of classes will be distributed. No schedules will be available before that time.

HUMBLE:

AN EXAMPLE OF CLEAN OPERATION

Reprinted from the Grand Junction, Colorado DAILY SENTINEL, this editorial deals with one of their local problems. We are proud that the editor selected Humble's Baytown Refinery as a good example of how clean the air and water from a modern refinery can be.

THE DAILY SENTINAL
GRAND JUNCTION, COLORADO

No Excuse For Pollution

The case of the burning drums — and the failure of any constituted governmental authority to do anything about them — is typical of this area.

The drums can burn, pollute the air, offend neighbors and until some single individual takes his case to the public via the newspaper nobody will do anything about it. This is not only a typical example of indifference to public welfare but a perfect example of this area's indifference to the life-and-death problem of air and water pollution.

After a recent visit to the third largest refinery in the country — at Baytown, near Houston, and operated by Humble Oil — we are convinced that there is absolutely no excuse for excessive smoke, odor or any other kind of air pollution.

Certainly there is no excuse for pollution in the Colorado river valley — the kind that is poured out by such industries as American Gilsonite at Fruita and Union Carbide at Rifle.

Today, as a result of advanced technology, any air pollution is directly the result of indifference by the management of the industry and not the result of any inability to clean up the mess.

At the Baytown refinery, although they are involved in producing everything from fuel oils to synthetic rubber and plastics (and even experimenting with shale oil) no visitor would know from smell or smoke that he was anywhere near a refinery.

The affluent from this gigantic refinery is dumped into the Houston canal — which is badly polluted — but where this particular affluent goes in, the fish grow prolifically and to a large size.

The point is that Humble Oil considers itself a leader in the advancement of air and water pollution control.

Part of this is due to the enthusiasm of the company's president, Charles Jones. Also, the company has proven by its own statistics that pollution control pays off in economic plant operation.

In addition to this, of course, Humble considers itself a good neighbor. It is exceedingly unfortunate that other companies, and particularly those in Western Colorado, don't have the same philosophy.

The truth is, however, that without that philosophy and without voluntary action the companies are going to force federal, state and local laws which will cram it down their throats.

We like federal, state, and local controls less than anyone in the country. But, this is a field in which they are not only justified but mandatory if industry will not accept its own responsibilities.

Humble Oil & Refining Company accepts all responsibilities of being a good citizen of Monterey County. We stake our prized national reputation and this major investment on justifying your confidence in us.

Young operetta stars relax at Nepenthe

CV Lionettes plan bake sale to finance braille typewriter

Plans for money making projects were discussed at the August dinner meeting of the Carmel Valley Lionettes held last week at Leavells restaurant. It has come to the attention of the organization that the Public Education Department for the Blind in Monterey are in need of more braille typewriters. Students now receiving instruction are allowed to take the machines home to practice and are badly in need of more equipment. Proceeds of a future bake sale will be used to add another machine to the department.

The resignation of Mrs. Carl Moberg as Tail Twister was accepted and Mrs. George Baker was elected as her replacement.

The group welcomed a new member, Mrs. Larry Feldman and were introduced to three guests; Mrs. William Isaacs, Mrs. Bill Baker and Mrs. George Jennings.

The meeting marked the first anniversary of the organization which was celebrated with a beautifully decorated cake baked by Mrs. Clyde Yeisley, hostess for the evening.

Three begonia plants were presented as door prizes to Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock, Mrs. Bill Baker and Mrs. Tony Steliga.

3 measurement-methods

Initial slope-density study presented

A 34-page preliminary draft of a proposed "Slope-Density Study of Carmel Valley" was presented to the County Planning Commission last week by William Spangle & Associates, city and regional planners of Menlo Park.

The report explains two possibilities for handling regulation of slope developments.

"One method is to assign a different density to major portions of the Valley based upon the average slope of each such major area.

"The other method is to assign one slope-density curve to the entire Valley, which would vary the permitted density for each development in the Valley based upon the average slope of the particular piece of land."

The first approach "has the advantage of permitting the easy computation of the total number of dwelling units to be permitted on a piece of land. The measurment of slope would be done before the density categories are assigned and the developer would not be involved in slope measurements.

"This approach would be very useful where topography is of rather uniform slope for sizeable areas and hence each such area could be assigned a different density.

"A disadvantage of this approach, however, is that it does not recognize detailed variations in topography. In Carmel Valley, the topography varies even within small areas and hence makes it impractical to assign different zones to each area with different topography.

LARGE OWNERSHIPS

"This might not be such a difficult problem for Carmel Valley, however," the planning consultant contends, "because most of the undeveloped lands are in large ownerships. "In these situations the developer will almost naturally try to vary the lot pattern on his parcel in accordance with variations in slope. By means of limits on grading and careful review of subdivision plans, he can be further forced to adjust development to topography."

The second method--establishing a "slope-density curve that can be applied throughout the Valley"--would have the advantage of determining the density based upon the slope of the particular parcel under consideration. This is particularly important where a developer has only steep land and might have a considerably higher yield under Method 1 than under this method.

"One problem of this approach is the need for developing a method of measuring slope which can be applied uniformly throughout the Valley by all developers. Another possible problem is the feasibility of determining the development potential of the Valley (needed for estimating needed community facilities)."

The report points out that "the successful administration of the slope-density formula is dependent upon the reasonably accurate measurement of slopes to yield consistent results."

It then goes on to present three methods for measurement: 1. the slope map method; 2. the contour method, and 3, the sample point method. Advantages and disadvantages of each method were cited, and the planning consultant didn't designate the most practical of the three.

FEASIBLE METHODS

"The comparison, however, indicates that there are feasible methods of measuring slope and that the major question is that of refinement of method," the consultants declare.

"It is concluded that development of steep slopes can cause problems for Carmel Valley. Therefore, the development of steep slopes deserve special attention. If cutting, filling and erosion increase with slope, then in order to hold these within reasonable limits (to be defined), the amount of development permitted should decrease as slope increases," the report points out.

Three slightly different slope-density standards, called A, B and C, are offered as follows:

SLOPE CATEGORY	ACRES A	B	C
0 - 10%	1.0	1.0	1.0
10 - 30%	1.5	1.5	1.5
30 - 50%	2.0	2.5	3.0
50% plus	3.0	4.0	5.0

The slope map method, the report says, offers advantages of being a conventional method and of being a map that is very often made as a matter of routine by engineers and developers in the process of analyzing land. "Therefore, this would not necessarily be an extra burden on the developer.

"The slope map method has the main disadvantage of being difficult to administer because of the variety possible in the delineation of slope areas."
